

INVESTING VS TRADING

Know the difference between investing and trading. Investing is when you buy a stock and keep it for years. Like a yoga guru, you must be calm for the long-term knowing your stock fundamentals are intact and not let distractions (such as sudden changes in price) influence your decisions.

Investing is when you buy a stock and keep it for years. Like a yoga guru, you must be calm for the long-term knowing your stock fundamentals are intact and not let distractions (such as sudden changes in price) influence your decisions.

Trading is a short-term act and is all about timing. Like a karate master, you need to be alert to wait for the right moment to strike and have a good sense of seizing the opportunities to capitalize.
